

Aruba's Jonathan Viera attends 69th Golden Globe Award Ceremony

The Aruban executive producer of the Aruba International Film Festival, Jonathan Viera, recently attended the prestigious Golden Globe

Awards ceremony.

The Hollywood Foreign Press Association invited Viera to the glamorous occasion because of the excellent relation which exists between them and the Aruba International Film Festival. The HFPA organization is present every year at the Festival di Cine of Aruba.

Last year in the second edition of the Festival, HFPA presented the Festival with an official certificate for the many accolades they received from the artists as well as for the films invited by Claudio Masenza, Artistic Director of the Festival.

According to Jonathan Viera, after having witnessed many great events thus far, the Golden Globe was the most impressive of them all! Viera recounts that there were more than 1300 invitees in the ball room where the ceremony was held. This number included actors, directors and specially invited guests. During the ceremony there were several features taking place simultaneously, such as fantastic scenery and an ongoing production being transmitted to more than 250 countries during the 3 to 4 hours of the Golden Globe event.

Jonathan Viera was privileged to meet several artists.

He was delighted to make the acquaintance of one of his favorite artists, Jon Voight. Jon Voight is the father of Angelina Jolie. On his own merits, Voight is himself a legend in the movie community.

Viera seized this tremendous opportunity to promote the agenda of the Aruba Film Festival. Viera was especially delighted to see the very same press people who come to Aruba to cover the Aruba Film Festivals. For him it was a time of reconnecting with various people and especially with the HFPA organization. Aruba can be proud of our own sons spreading the good news of Aruba wherever they go!
